

February 7th 2011

RCapital invests in national cost and project management specialist DBK

RCapital, a leading UK private investment boutique, has made a growth investment in DBK, a specialist cost and project management consultancy focused on the construction and property industries. An undisclosed sum was invested by RCapital's Growth Fund into DBK, which became a Limited Liability Partnership (LLP) following the transaction.

In the past year, DBK has won many new clients and awarded construction contracts valued in excess of £250,000,000 across all industry sectors. Since the start of 2011, DBK LLP have been appointed advisors to University Partnerships Programme, St Modwen, Amazon, Stoford and several hotel operator developments.

Tim Downing Managing Partner at DBK LLP says, "We have expanded the firm to 4 UK regions, but due to difficulties accessing finance, we were unable to increase our footprint further to take advantage of the many commercial opportunities arising currently without the support from RCapital. Their initial advice to become an LLP also supports our aspirations, giving us a modern structure to drive the business forward with a united brand identity."

Jamie Constable, CEO of RCapital says, "DBK was a good candidate for growth funds because the company's focus on cost and project management is regarded an essential element to the future of property development. Their services add a huge amount of value to their clients and their investment in having highly skilled industry experts further adds to their distinctiveness.

DBK LLP work with clients across the UK and have offices in Birmingham, London, Manchester and Bournemouth.

- ENDS -

About RCapital

RCapital is a private investment boutique specialising in UK businesses. Established in 2004 by Jamie Constable and Peter Ward, RCapital provides private equity finance for businesses requiring investment to realise growth opportunities.

Working closely with the business, RCapital offers the highest level of expertise and experience in developing and managing the demands of a successful growth strategy and as a key investor, helps to build the infrastructure and management team required to support growth.

For more information contact:

Lesley Muir: 07796 148400, Lesley@good-pr.co.uk